DRIVE FOR BERLIN AT CRITICAL STAGE; SIEGFRIED LINE IS STRANGELY SILENT

AMERICANS ADVANCE DEEPLY INTO VAUNTED WEST WALL THURSDAY

ONLY MACHINEGUN AND RIFLE FIRE MET AS SIEGFRIED LINE CRACKED

PARIS, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Shock troops of the First and Ninth divisions penetrated deeply into the central Siegfried line today and erased the last vestige of the bulge driven into the American First army front before Christmas.

Patrols of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army stormed the Siegfried line ramparts in three sectors, encountering opposition ranging from scant to heavy.

His Ninth division advanced more than two miles through Hitler's West Wall and ran into heavy machinegun and rifle fire in an attack on the main enemy supply crossroads nine miles southeast of Monschau. Fighting was in a dank fir forest.

Penetrates Fortifications.

The Fighting First division penetrated the Sigfried line at a point 16 miles east of Malmedy, meeting only negligible opposition.

The Second division likewise drove ahead. The 82nd airborne division entered the outskirts of Losheim, which is inside the lightly manned Siegfried line—drained by exigencies of the Russian front.

The First army troops crossed the first row of dragon teeth tank barriers in a section of the Siegfried line never before breached.

Farther north, 37 miles of the line have been conquered by the Americans in the Aachen-Roer river sector.

Strike Into Pillboxes.

Along a front of 40 miles, the American First and Third armies struck with a vengeance into pillboxes fringing the line, which battlefront dispatches described as strangely quiet—its artillery silent and its resistance mainly from small arms. Great sections of the fortifications were under American artillery fire.

Overnight advances, generally reached four miles deeper into Germany. Village after village fell. Patrols entered the fringes of the Siegfried line in the Monschau sector, where a whole three-mile section was captured earlier in the week. Third Army infantrymen seized four more German towns.

An eerie silence covered the big nazi guns in the lines, but American artillery of both the First and Third army laid a barrage on the fortifications aong a 40-mile sector opposite Belgium and Luxembourg. The heaviest enemy resistance was limited strictly to small arms and accurate mortar screening. Troops frankly were amazed at the complete lack of artillery and, in most cases, the enemy's reluctance to stand and fight.

Third Pushes Into Germany.

The U. S. Third army pushed two and a half miles into Germany in the edges of the Siegfried line east of the Our river. Ingelscheid, Tereleit and Heckalenfeld—all in

WOUNDED IN ACTION — T-5 Jack Petty, 25, U. S. Army, paratrooper, was wounded in action in December in Belgium, according to information from the war department received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Petty, 902 South Beaton street. Suffering head injuries from shell fragments, he is reported to be making normal improvement. A veteran of two years overseas, Petty had participated in the battles at Salerno, Anzio, and took part in the fighting in Holland, Germany and Belgium. A brother, Wm. PLANS DISCLOSED FOR QUICK SHIFT TROOPS TO PACIFIC

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—Prospects of a speedier end of the Japanese war developed today with disclosure of a plan for a quick shift of troops from Europe to the Pacific once Germany is defeated.

Under this system, which was described by high sources, troops in Europe will leave the bulk of their equipment on the continent and then [illegible] the Pacific with equipment piled up there from this country.

This could mean a savings of months in throwing the full weight of American forces against the Japanese. The campaign against them already has been described by War Secretary Stimson as ahead of schedule.

The plan will add to war costs, require a continuation of a high-rate production and postpone the day of reconversion.

On the other hand, it was pointed out that it would mean the savings of perhaps thousands of lives that might otherwise be lost in a prolonged campaign.

While it was not disclosed what euqipment would be left behind, trucks, construction equipment and perishable goods presumably would be included. All of these could be used in the rehabilitation of France, Italy, Belgium and Holland.

Most of the airplanes still in operating condition, especially heavy bombers, undoubtedly would be flown to Pacific bases.

MEN OF BATAAN, CORREGIDOR AND SINGAPORE---513 OF THEM SNATCHED FROM UNDER JAP GUNS

LONG TWISTING LANE SHOULD BECOME WAR MONUMENT ON LUZON

RESCUE AND CONDITION OF JAP WAR PRISONERS GRAPHICALLY TOLD

SIXTH RANGER BATTALION, CAPM LUZON, Jan. 31.—(Deloyed)—(AP)—There is a long, dusty, twisting lane near here which should become a war monument, for today it bridged two worlds. It leads across the plain toward the death camp where 513 prisoners of war were rescued by American Rangers and Filipino guerrillas.

A convoy of ambulances and trucks transported the rescued captives back to absolute safety and freedom—except for two of the 513 who died en route. No men ever received more sincere homage than these lean, ragged captives who had come back from death.

For four miles they followed a lane outside the American lines, riding in vehicles and grass lined Filipino carts. Thousands of soldiers from the reinvasion army formed an impromptu parade in their honor, flanking both sides of the return route.

Tried to Regain Pride.

No men ever tried more valiently to regain the pride which the Japanese had smashed and to control their emotions as these captives whose first glimpse of the almost forgotten outside world came this evening.

Behind them was the awful hopelessness of Bataan and Corregidor, and nearly three years of unbelievable brutal imprisonment.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Men of Bataan, Corregidor and Singapore—513 of them—were snatched from under the flaming muzzles of Japanese guns last night in an exploit of unmatched daring.

Some 400 picked men of the Sixth Ranger Battalion and Filipino guerillas made a commando raid 25 miles behind Japanese lines to empty a prison camp and partially fulfill one of the Philippines objectives closest to Gen. MacArthur's heart.

They took Japanese guards by surprise and rescued 486 Americans, 23 British, three Netherlanders and one Norwegian—all that were left in the prison camp in Nueva Ecija province of Eastern Luzon.

Many more hundreds of more able-bodied war prisoners had been sent to work camps in Japan. Hundreds of others had died.

All but two of the men were brought out alive by the 121 men of the Sixth Ranger Battalion who stormed into the prison stockade under command of Lt. Col. Henry Mucci of Bridgeport, Conn. Their enfeebled hearts flickered out when they were in sight of American lines.

Savage Precision Attack.

The Rangers attacked with such merciless precision that not one of the Japanese stockade guards was left alive or able to resist. And they attacked with such care that not one of the prisoners was scratched.

Within a matter of minutes all had been released and were on their 25 mile journey to freedom, walking, carried on backs of husky Rangers or riding in carabo carts.

Nearly 100 were so weak from malnutrition, disease and three-year old wounds that they could not walk when they were cut loose from Japanese bondage.

The rescue cost the lives of 27 Rangers and Filiponis in a guer-

SENATE HAS PASSED LEGISLATION EASING FIGHT ON WALLACE

ACTION ON CONFIRMATION OF WALLACE SEALED OFF UNTIL MARCH

WASHINGTON, Feb. .—(AP)—The senate sealed off action until March on Henry Wallace's cabinet post today, after voting to strip the commerce secretary of control over government lending agencies.

The action came on a voice vote after the chamber had heard Senator Barkley (D-Ky) read a message from President Roosevelt saying that he would approve the divorcement legislation, which was passed b ya vote of 74 to 12.

If congress should return the loan functions to a separate agency, as they were before an executive order three years ago, "I will approve the measure," the president said in his message.

The measure, designed to compromise the battle over Wallace's nomination, now goes to the house.

Barkley's motion to delay action on the nomination until March 1 will allow time for house action.

Friends of Wallace have conceded that this course offers the only way in which the former vice president could be confirmed because an apparent senate majority is opposed to his weilding the lending authority.

Administration Wins.

The administration defeated all-out foes of Henry Wallace today by forcing a delay in Senate consideration of his cabinet nomination.

Through the delay, which may extend into weeks, Wallace backers hoped to win ultimate confirmation of the former vice President by stripping the commerce department of its huge lending agencies.

Beating down on a 43 to 41 vote an attempt by Senator Bailey (D-NC) to force immediate consideration of the appointment, the Senate leadership obtained right of way for the George bill. This is

PRISONERS' RESCUE OVERSHADOWS DRIVE ON MANILA, BATAAN

SIXTH ARMY HAS OVERRUN LAST NATURAL DEFENSE BEFORE CAPITAL

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor.

A daring rescue of 513 early war heroes from a Japanese prison camp in the Philippines overshodowed tank-paced American drives today on Manila and Bataan, and the uncontested recapture of the Olongapo naval base.

India-Based B-29s bombed Singapore for the third time in daylight today while three individual sorties were reported over Japan in the unending Superfortress war.

Biggest engagement reported in the Philippines was in a perfectly executed, daring comando-type raid on an Eastern Luzon prison camp, but the most significant actions were on the southern front.

The Sixth army overran the last major natural defense line within 25 miles of Manila.

Olongapo Seized.

The Eighth army seized Olongapo, former U. S. naval station on Subic Bay now being reconverted into a U. S. base. American warships began streaming into Subic Bay from which Tokyo broadcasts reported they are bomabrding Japaneshe emplacements on Bataan.

Heroes of Bataan were among the 486 Americans released in the mass prison break, by 121 American Rangers and 296 Filipino guerril-

About 100 Persons Killed In Wreck Mexican Railway

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 1. (AP)—About 100 persons were killed and 70 injured in the wreck of a special train of pilgrims at 12:47 a.m. today near Cazadero, 100 miles north of here.

There were nine coaches of pilgrims. All the cars were swept off the track and three were quickly in flames.

The National Railways, which announced the preliminary casualty list, said a freight train crashed into the rear of the pilgrims' train, which left here at 5 p.m. yesterday.

The pilgrims were bound for San Juan De Los Lagos, south of Aguas Calientes and about 300 miles northwest of here. They were to attend a religious festival for the Virgin Mary.

A relief train with doctors and supplies was sent from here and most of the injured already have been taken to San Juan Del Rio, 20 miles from the wreck, where there are hospital facilities. Cazadero, near where the wreck occurred, is only a hamlet.

LEGISLATIVE WORK HALTED THURSDAY BY DEATH BOB BARKER

PAY RAISES FOR RURAL SCHOOL TEACHERS EFFECTIVE AS BILL SIGNED

AUSTIN, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The proceedings of the 49th legislature were brought to a complete halt today in honor to Bob Barker, Senate secretary who died suddenly yesterday.

The House of Representatives, where Barker began his long career as a legislative attache, adjourned until Monday. All committee meetings were cancelled.

The senate also adjourned until Monday, cancelling all business in respect to Barker. Both houses named committees to assist in paying the legislature's last honors to Barker.

AUSTIN, Feb. 1. (AP)—Pay raises of $300 for the current school year for each of approximately 15,000 rural school teachers were a reality today.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson yesterday signed a bill with this effect which had now unanimous approval in house and senate, this giving it immediate effect as law.

The act, an amendment to the current rural school equilization law for the biennium ending Aug. 31 also increases state financial benefits paid to eligible rural schools for miscellaneous expenses

Georgia Acts To Repeal Poll Tax For That State

ATLANTA, Feb. 1. (AP)—Both branches of the Georgia legislature have voted overwhelmingly for repeal of the state's $1 a year poll tax and only acceptance by the senate of a substitute house bill remains before the levy is wiped out.

Senate leaders said they had no objection to the bill the house passed yesterday 141 to 41. Last week the senate voted 31 to 19 for repeal but its measure provided for biennial registration of voters. The house changed the bill to retain permanent registration.

Repeal of the poll tax in Georgia will leave seven states with the levy—Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia and Tennessee. The 1943 Tennessee legislature repealed the poll tax but the state supreme court invalidated the repealer, holding that a constitutional amendment was necessary.

The Tennessee house rejected yesterday bills which would have eliminated the tax as a prerequisite for voting in premaries and in the 1946 elections.

A bill to exempt war veterans from the tax has been introduced in the South Carolina legislature and in Alabama a legislator has announced he will fight to wipe out delinquent poll tax collections for more than two years back.

Zero Temperatures Grip Most Nation

(By The Associated Press.)

Winter recognized no calendar change today as January merged into February without a break in zero temperatures that gripped most of the nation.

Along the Atlantic seaboard, where the mercury hovered near zero from New England to Maryland, cold and blizzard conditions in western New York state held up trains and blocked secondary roads.

Storm conditions near Rochester, N. Y., were held responsible for one traffic fatality and state guardsmen worked in rail freight yards to assist in unsnarling vital war traffic.

Forty-nine passengers stranded on an Erie railroad train near Hamburg in the western part of the state were rescued by police and private automobiles.

New England was expecting snow flurries in western Massachusetts ad mountain areas of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Rice Tightens Hold

GERMANS SAY REDS HAVE SMASHED WAY CLOSER TO CAPITAL

INDICATIONS ARE THAT CRUCIAL BATTLE OF THE ODER IS NEAR

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press War Editor.

A German military commentator said today that Red army troops had broken into Kustrin, highway center 41 miles from Berlin controlling broad and straight highways to the heart of the German capital, and the German high command said other Soviet forces had reached a point northeast of the traffic center, 39 miles or less from Berlin.

There were indications that Marshall Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army was drawing up to the Oder river for a great battle which might break German resistance before Berlin.

German broadcasts said Zhukov had reached the Oder valley city of Kustrin, 41 miles East of Berlin at the confluence of the Oder and the Warthe, in "very marked superiority." The roar of Red army artillery was reported audible in Berlin as Zhukov spread out on a 70-mile front for the grand assault on the capital which Gauleiter Paul Joseph Goebbels said he was ready to launch.

Red planes raked the broad, straight roads connecting Kustrin with Berlin and Frankfurt, and Zhukov hurled waves of infantry and tanks into his 40-mile Frankfurt salient between the Oder and the Warthe.

Zuhkov may be even closer than 80 miles to the capital, since the Oder in the area northwest of Kustrin bends westeward to within 35 miles of Berlin.

His left wing has linked with Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukraine army in the vicinity of Sarau, 45 miles inside Germany and 75 miles southeast of Berlin. His right wing reached to Soldin, also 45 miles inside the Reich. It is 56 miles northeast of Berlin and 38 miles from Stettin.

Soviet correspondents said virtually all the German population of Silesia was on the move toward inner Germany. Izvestia said there was "no power in the world which is able to make a stand on the holy route of the Red army."

Five German POW Sentenced Death In Fatal Beating

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Five German prisoners of war have been sentenced to death by a court-martial, Newsweek Magazine says, because they beat to death a fellow prisoner they suspected of giving valuable information to the United States.

Newsweek, in its Feb. 5 issue, declares the men killed a comrade at Camp Tonkawa, Okla., Nov. 5, 1943, and now are awaiting "their doom in a federal penitentiary."

The dead man was identified as Cpl. Johann Kunze. The five men, all non-commissioned officers, were identified as Walther Beyer, Berthold Seidel, Hans Demme, Willi Scholz and Hans Schomer.

"Under the articles of war the court had no choice but to pronounce the death sentence," the magazine says. "The Nazis appeared entirely satisfied."

The men "proudly admitted their part in Kunze's liquidation," the magazine adds.

Newsweek also says two other German prisoners of war, Eric Gaus and Rudolph Straub, were convicted June 13, 1944, of the slaying near Camp Gordon, Ga., of Cpl. Horst Gunther, who also had been denounced by his comrades as a traitor.

FAST PACED RUSSIAN TANKS AND INFANTRY REACH ODER RIVER

GERMAN HIGH COMMAND REPORTS SAY RED ARMY IN 39 MILES OF CAPITAL

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Russians with their fast-paced tanks and infantry have smashed to the banks of the Oder northwest of Kustrin at a point 39 miles or less from Berlin, the German high command announced today.

It was possible that the Russians were even closer than 39 miles, for the German communique did not give the exact location of the penetration to the river. The Oder swings to within 28 miles of Berlin northwest of Kustrin. But immediately northwest of Kustrin it is 39 miles from the capital, and it seemed more likely that a point in the Kustrin vicinity was meant.

The eastern edge of Kustrin itself, one of the chief defenses of the German capital, was reached by the swift Soviet punches rapidly spreading the fires of war to the heart of the Reich, said German broadcasts.

At a point 170 miles to the rear, the Russians liquidated one of the German knots of resistance in Poland. Marshal Stalin in an order of the day announced the capture of Torun (Thorn), a stronghold of 54,000 on the banks of the Vistula, after a week-long siege.

Ready for Quick Smash.

Along a 70-mile front Marshal Gregory Zhukov masses waves of tanks and infantry for a quick smash at Berlin's greatest defenses.

But at the center of his spearhead in the 40-mile wide Frankfurt salient between the Oder and the Warthe, the German high command said it had hurled in its reserves to halt the invading columns which already had broken through a defense shield 23 miles east of Frankfurt.

Red air fleet planes raked the Berlin-Frankfurt highways and Moscow dispatches said Nazi prisoners reported panic in the German capital because German civilians believed the airmen's red flares were artillery flashes.

Much Deeper Advance.

Officially, Moscow placed the closest Soviet approach to Berlin at 63 miles, but an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow virtually confirmed the German reports of a much deeper advance.

It was about Frankfurt a city of 75,000 on the west side of the Oder 17 miles south of Kustrin, that the Germans had grouped their strongest fortifications along the line of the Oder to protect communications between Berlin and Breslau in Silesia.

With his wings spread out on a 70-mile front, Zhukov was preparing for a mighty battle along the Oder which might break German resistance and let the Red army flood into Berlin.

Seeks Break River Ice.

The Germans were reported dynamiting, shelling and bombing the Oder in a frantic effort to break up natural ice bridges.

TWO ITEMS IN RECENT GERMAN DISPATCHES THAT MAY MEAN MUCH IN COLLAPSE OF HITLER

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Substituting for DeWitt Mackenzie

Regardless of the outcome of the battle of the Oder, which approaches hourly nearer, there are two items in recent German dispatches which, overshadowed by the Russian advance along the Warthe, nevertheless may play an important role in Hitler's collapse.

A few days will tell whether the Germans have been able to devise any real defenses before Berlin—whether the Russians are to continue unchecked, or whether they will have to stop at the river to pull up their galluses as they did at the Vistula last summer.

However, if the Russians are at Sorau farther south, as the Germans say, any massing of Nazi strength in the Frankfurt area may mean little more than have the holdouts at Torun, Poznan, Elbing and Konigsberg.

While Sorau is twice as far from Berlin as Frankfurt, there is one big difference. It is 30 miles west of the Oder, well inside the area where Germany was supposed to have strong defenses. That could mean much or little regarding defenses farther north. The important thing is that the 75 miles between what the Germans call Marshal Konev's northern anchor and Berlin is through flat country, somewhat more wooded than Zhukov's direct route, but criss-crossed by only minor water courses. If Konev is making a major effort there (and it would be normal for the Russians to keep silent about such a move until its outcome was foreseeable) the German army and Berlin could be placed in a position similar to that which would have occurred last fall had the western Allies crossing at Arnhem, pushed up the east bank of the Rhine toward Dortmund.

The other report: The Germans mention renewed Russian attacks south of Lake Balaton in Hungary. That means the German army is

LOCAL MAN TELLS OF GERMAN ATTEMPT TO DESTROY ARTILLERY

STAFF SGT. MICKEY M'BROOM, 36TH DIVISION, FIGHTING IN FRANCE

WITH THE 36TH "TEXAS" DIVISION of the Seventh Army in France—During a recent attempt by the Germans to infiltrate artillery positions in the 36th "Texas" Division, gun crews of a Field Artillery Battalion resorted to carbine and machine gun fire to ward off the attackers.

"We had captured a German prisoner early in the afternoon of December 11," stated Staff Sgt. Mickey McBroom, of Corsicana, Texas, mess sergeant for the artillery battery. "He warned us that many of his comrades were in the hills, fully equipped with the mission of destroying all artillery pieces."

Enemy Opened Fire.

Infantrymen were called on to provide security for the big guns, but as the lead jeep approached the area, dug in enemy troops opened fire. A bazooka scored a direct hit on the the first jeep. Their positions revealed by the ensuing firefight, the Boche attempted to carry out their mission which had been previously scheduled for that night.

Enemy machine guns, rat-guns, and small arms fire sprayed the area while German demolition experts moved forward to set their charges. One howitzer and an ammunition dump were blown sky high. In the nearby CP alerted artillerymen used their small arms fire to stop the attack. Sgt. Theodore King, of Linden, Texas, was in charge of the group firing from their temporary strong point.

While artillerymen and Krauts were busily engaged, Corp. Albert Wagner, of Chicago, Illinois, eased over to the anti-aircraft flak wagon and opened fire with four 50 calibre machine guns. He fired 1100 rounds, sprayed the entire enemy area, and effectively silenced all enemy fire power from then on.

"Those 50 calibres were raining like pennies from heaven!" exclaimed Pvt. Robert Zeidler, of Fitchburg, Massachusetts.

"For their farewell shot," said gunner Corp. Joseph F. Passaretti of Hartford, Connecticut, "the Germans fired a bazooka round into the top of our house and burned it to the ground. However, we did salvage the kitchen and some of our personal belongings."

Staff Sgt. Mickey McBroom, who has been with the division ever since it was mobilized in Novmeber 1940, has been overseas 22 months, and his home address is with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McBroom, of Corsicana, Texas.

Germany and southeast of St. Vith —were captured in advances averaging two miles despite thick small arms fire, mud, rain and slush. The assault carried to within nine miles of Prum, one of the strongest Siegfried line bastions.

(The German communique said the U. S. First and Third armies had driven "deep inside our main lines" on the entire front between Monschau and St. Vith. The attacks were declared halted in fierce fighting. German reverses east and northeast of Colmar were reported.)

Prisoners Captured.

The First army alone captured 1,332 prisoners in the 24 hours to midnight, its largest haul since Jan. 3. That was a commentary on German morale.

"The absence of strong German reaction suggested the possibility that the Germans have jerked everything farther back," AP Correstondent E. D. Ball reported from the First army sector.

The German cross-Rhine holdings north and south of Strasbourg also began to collapse, reflecting a weakening of the enemy along the whole Western Front.

Heavy Rail Movements.

Allied planes spotted heavy German rail movements eastward from Karlsruhe and Mannheim and through Heilbronn, indicating a further thinning of German defenses. Roads north of Wissembourg, above the U. S. 7th army front, were jammed.

The Colmar pocket was steadily being reduced from north and south. Colmar itself (46,000) was outflanked and American and French troops were cose to the Colmar-Breisach road leading to the only permanent Rhine bridge standing in the Strasbourg sector. Street fighting progressed in Cernay; Wittelsheim fell. Gambsheim and Bettenhofen, north of Strasbourg, were captured and the allies moved to within two miles of the river.

German Position Weakened.

It was certain that the thinout had weakened Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's whole position west of the Rhine so that he could not hold what he had bitten off in recent attempts to keep the initiative. Now it is a question whether the German, indeed, will be able to save anything west of the Rhine in the sectors of the main allied attack, it was said at supreme headquarters.

At Field Marshal Montgomery's headquarters in the north, a spokesman for the 21st army group said the battle has developed into a general attack all along the Western front toward the Siegfried line. He expressed roubt, however, that the Germans would yield the fortifications without a hard fight. A 35-mile section of the line has been captured by American arms along the Roer river north of the Monschau area.

Milder Temperatures.

A considerable chance to milder temperatures and steadily falling rain washed snow from the forests and hills. Roads became dauble lants of rushing rivulets of slush.

Despite these weather handicaps which impeded transport and checked the use of armor, the grounded 82nd airborne division advanced a mile beyond the German border through the Gerolstein forest 12 miles northeast of St. Vith.

The Second (Indian Head) division advanced a mile beyond Rocherath in the Monschau forest and its patrols at points were in contact with the first formidable belt of Siegfried line fortifications.

Encountered Resistance.

The 78th division encountered heavy resistance east of captured Kesternich, where it had crossed the headwaters of the Roer river.

Four villages were mopped up. The thrust here was straight Eastward, but the terrain was difficult. The Eifel mountains, thick forests, deep valleys and difficult defiles were ahead. Roads were poor.

At Montgomery's headquarters, the opinion was expressed that Rundstedt might be saving manpower for protection of the Siegfried line. In may sections, the fixed forts are ringed by deep and wide ditches.

Positions Strengthened.

"The enemy has further strengthened these positions by community digging and the defenses now are surrounded by a maze of anti-tank ditches and criss-crossed trench lines," a spokesman for the 21st army group said.

The Siegfried line heavy concrete pillboxes were built in 1938 and now are outmoded by improved assault weapons. Where natural obstacles are plentiful, the Siegfried line works are sparse. Where terrain is level, as many as 500 or 600 pillboxes dot a square mile.

As thick weather held allied air power on the ground yesterday for the second day, announcement was made that a new French component of the U. S. First tactical air force, known as the French Atlantic Air Command, now is in operation in Western France. The French airmen are flying principally in support of allied forces guarding three west coast pockets in which approximately 100,000 Germans have been surrounded for several months.

Parents-Teachers Association of Barry In Session Tuesday

"Haste, sometimes makes waste, Rev. Vernon White, Methodist minister told twelve members of the Barry Parent Teacher association at the regular meeting Jan. 23, at the school building.

There's so much needed to bring victory, we should not waste anything, Rev. White further stated Time and youth are resources we as parents and teachers, should learn to conserve. This is no time to waste time. We should learn to budget our time. We are urged over the radio to conserve waste fats, paper, rags, and tin, but something of far more importance is the youth of our land. If we teach them in our homes and in our schools the better way of life a better world will be built tomorrow, on the principle of thrift and true thinking; So let's learn to conserve our time and our youth.

Mr. J. L. Cox, superintendent, closed with glimpses into the future for school systems.—Reporter.

and transportation and tuition costs.

It appropriates about $1,575,000 in new funds which were on hand but unexpendable until the law was amended.

The act was the first one of wide application to come out of the 49th general session which began Jan. 9

With the committees of house and senate well into their schedule of hearings on proposed legislation other measures were being added to calendars for floor consideration, including more money bills.

House appropriations committee approval was given a bill by Rep. Charley Pigg of Waxahachie adding $300,000 monthly to the state's cutlay for old age assistance payments.

It would increase the state's allotment each month for this purpose to $2,200,000 which would be matched by federal funds. This rate of expenditure would apply only for the remainder of the fiscal year. Allocation for the biennium beginning Sept. 1 will be made in separate legislation.

The Pigg bill as sent to committee raised the monthly portion of state funds for assistance payments by $250,000. The committee boosted this figure by $50,000.

May Get Full Payment

On the basis of the $250,000 addition it was estimated that 40,000 recipients would receive the full $30 constitutional monthly payment and that about 120,000 recipients would receive an increase of $4.65 a month, boosting their average to $25 10. The current average is $21.40.

One of many proposed constitutional amendments made a good start along the road of legislative processing when a house committee approved a proposal to submit an amendment permitting the legislature to enact a law exempting members of the armed forces for payment of the poll tax as a voting prerequisite in time of war or national emergency, if they are otherwise qualified to vote.

By Rep. Jo Ed Winfree of Houston, the proposal was signed by more than 100 other members of the house.

Also approved by the committee was a proposal of Rep. George Parkhouse of Dallas submitting an amendment authorizing the legislature to create a retirement, injury and death benefit system for stathe employes who now have no social security.

A second proposed increase in old age assistance payments was approved by another house committtee, state affairs, which favorably reported a bill by Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa restoring a $1.25 horizontal reduction below authorized monthly grants. Favors estimated his bill would increase monthly state allocations for assistance by about $100,000.

CONDITIONS AFTER GERMAN OCCUPATION HOLLAND DESCRIBED

WIFE OF CORSICANA SOLDIER RECEIVES LETTER FROM DUTCH FAMILY

Conditions in Holland following the German occupation are vividly pictured in a letter received from a native of the country, written to Mrs. Minnie Beth Kent, Powell, whose husband, Corp. Houston Kent, 32, U. S. Army, Tank Corps, was stationed in Holland prior to moving into Germany where he is now fighting on the western front.

The letter was written from Somewhere in Holland, is dated December 17, 1944, and is signed Cpl. Theodore Van Es, wife, Clare, daughter, Amelia, and son, Gerard.

Van Es was captured by the Germans when they entered Holland and was forced to work in a coal mine until he escaped with the aid of the underground and made his way back to his wife and family. His daughter is 14 years of age and his son 11.

Germans Rob Dutch.

"During the occupation of Holland by the American soldiers I have made the acquaintance of your husband," Van Es writes. He tells of Cpl. ent spending his evenings in the Holland home and how much the entire family eljoys the visits. "It is a pity that we cant' offer your husband something," the writer states, adding "We Dutchmen were robbed totally by the Germans. We Dutchmen have no shoes, no clothes, few bread and potatoes, no grease, no meat, no eggs, no fish, no chocolate and other dainty bits, no bananas and oranges, no smokables, in short we have nothing."

"In former times," the writer states, "there were plenty of these articles, but since May, 1940, or I had better say, since the Germans came into Holland, those who call themselves liberators of of the Dutch population, all the articles mentioned decreased until there was nothing left. What we Dutchmen still have we have given all to the first American soldiers who came to our country Sept. 17, 1944.

Glad to See Americans.

"The entering of the first American soldiers was attended by much enthusiasm," according to Van Es, 'and the festive joy of the first few days was very great.' Pointing out that the Germans had been in Holland four and a half years, the writer said that "thousands of Dutchmen have been killed, thousands tortured, thousands locked up in concentration camps, thousands of husbands torn from their families and forced to work in Germany where they were exposed to the bombings of Allied planes."

Concerning health conditions, Van Es writes that "thousands of children and grown-ups have become tubercular on account of underfeeding—therefore we Dutchmen realize very well that we are indebeted to the Americans—and many thanks. But in spite of all this we cannot repay our liberators with anything. A cup of artificial coffee without sugar or cream is all that we can give the American soldiers."

Nazis Seize Everything.

The writer also stated that the Germans seized all the radios, all the household copper, nickel and tin articles, and took the bicycles and thousands of motorcars from the people of Holland.

Van Es thanks Mrs. Kent for a box containing coffee and chocolates which he and his family received through Cpl. Kent. "The joy of our children was very great—for all you have given to my wire and children I am thankful to you."

In closing the writer wishes Mrs. Kent a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and hope that the Christmas of 1945 will become a a feast which you can celebrate with your own husband in your own home. Cordial remembrance from all of us."

Cpl. Kent entered the service May, 1942, and has been overseas since March, 1944.

CPL. N. A. ANDREWS AWARDED SOLDIERS MEDAL FOR HEROISM

Cpl. Norman A. Andrews, 23, U. S. Army, has been awarded the Soldiers Medal for heroism displayed while serving with the 104th Ordnance Bomb Disposal Squad in the Palau group, September 21, 1944, according to information received from the Adjutant General by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Andrews, Kilgore, former Corsicana residents.

The citation, "Cpl. Andrews and four others were engaged in clearing out an ammunition dump which twice previously had exploded and caught fire, causing several casualties, when the dump for the third time burst into flames. With complete disregard for his personal safety, Cpl. Andrews assisted in clearing the area of personnel and in extinguishing the flames with the fire extinguisher. He continued to aid in the disposition of fire-damaged ammunition. The heroism of Cpl. Andrews prevented further destruction of urgently needed combat supplies and possibly death or serious injury to personnel in the affected area."

Cpl. Andrews attended the Corsicana high school and North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, and worked as a machinist in Houston before entering the service 22 months ago. He has been overseas 19 months.

RECKLESS STRIKES

An example of what damage wildcat strikes can do to the cause of labor is shown in a bill introduced in the Ohio Legislature this week. Representative Jack Easton was angered at the irresponsible walkout of a few employees of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. which, though unsuccessful, still caused an estimated million man hours of work to be lost through temporary cuts in power supply.

He proposed that it be made a criminal offense for any employee of a publicly or privately owned utility to strike during wartime, and suggests heavy fines and penitenary sentences for such an offense. Within the term "utility" he includes telephone and telegraph, light, natural and artificial gas, signal and transportation services. His contention is that if such services can be regulated by state law, as they are, the state can insist that they be maintained without stoppage in periods of emergency.

It is a valid and just viewpoint. Utilities, public and private alike, exist to provide community service without which people in our modern civilization could not survive. They have a community responsibility which is as much that of labor as of management. And if the unions themselves cannot instil in members enough discipline to command respect for their own no-strike pledges, it is the duty of government to do so.

ADOLF WILL SAVE US

A bit of late news about Hitler comes from Col. Janos Voros, defense minister of Hungary. He says he saw the Fuehrer recently, on an airplane trip, and heard him ranting for two hours. Apparently it was the same little old modest superman. Voros quotes the following specimen.

"Now we are all sitting in one boat in a dreadful storm. He who jumps overboard—man or nation—will surely drown. It is possible that the boat will capsize. But it is more than likely it will reach the land. To the last man, to the last drop of blood, I will defend the Fatherland."

All that we can say is, "God help anybody that Adolf defends." He reminds a listener of the famous humorist, Artemus Ward, who swore that he "would fight to the last drop of his blood-relations."

PRESIDENTIAL LETTERS

Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace is turning over his letters and papers to the Library of Congress to be kept sealed for 20 years, and thereafter made available to historians. They will, or course, throw much light on the inside history of the New Deal.

More and more our public men are recognizing that their correspondence belongs to the nation, and are giving it to the Library of Congress for safe-keeping. The only two recent exceptions are President Roosevelt, who has erected at Hyde Park, N. Y., a special building for his papers, and President Harding, most of whose documents were, after his death, systematically destroyed by his wife.

This is an excellent idea. Letters of public men are the best sources for the history of a period. Contemporaries may be fooled by propaganda and suppression, but the record should finally be put straight.

Sometimes entirely new light is thrown on a man and his friends by the publication of his letters. Many are wondering if this will be the case with Abraham Lincoln's correspondence. Given to the Library of Congress by his son, it may be consulted in 1947 and thereafter. Exciting rumors have been spread about it, one that it says a member of his cabinet was a traitor. If that is true, Americans would like to know it.

CRAZY OR JUST DUMB

A war correspondent in the Philippines says the Japs are going crazy. He bases his verdict on such facts as these. He says they "throw away their planes in a rage" when something goes wrong, and in their fighting they are so absurd as to throw little hand grenades at warships covered with thick armor.

This doesn't necessarily mean insanity, however silly it may be. But they certainly are very dumb and impractical in many ways. And that is one reason why they are getting licked wherever the odds are not overwhelmingly in their favor.

War is a business that requires calmness and judgment, not tantrums. "He that ruleth his spirit," says the Scripture, "is greater than he that taketh a city." But that is only half of the picture. If he fails in self-control he will not be very good at taking cities.

FAIR EXCHANGE

The average citizen, devoting what little time he has left from war work to thinking about his postwar plans, is naturally interested in the administration pledge for 60,000,000 jobs. But in that thinking there is one factor frequently lost sight of. How are we going to keep up such employment? The obvious answer is exports, but that's just half of the story.

To export large amounts of manufactured goods, we must have markets able to pay. And unless we ourselves are willing to buy, and import the goods of other countries, they will not have money to pay us for our exports. To subsidize exports in order to make jobs would seem like throwing away our resources, and would in the long run bring us neither prosperity nor friendly relations abroad.

There is apparently just one logical solution. That is, to begin now laying the groundwork with lower tariffs and removal of other obstacles to free trade. We can then import from other countries the articles which they can make best, and in return sell them those things which they need from us. "A fair exchange is no robbery."

YANKS AND JAPS

The Yanks keep rolling right along toward Manila, and that's a good omen. For Manila is the place where the best rope in the world is made, and the two words, rope and Manila, are almost inseparable. So other things being equal, the Yanks and the natives will be well equipped for hanging whatever pesky Japs they manage to get hold of.

But, in a manner of speaking, the Japs will generally hang themselves when they are given enough rope.

This war seems to be operated mostly on cigarets and dynamite, and it isn't quite clear which is more important.

FRIENDLY WORLD

All in a little gathered space
My friendships dwell,
And one has laughter on his face
And tales to tell.

Another walks the miles with me
And all my care,
However grievous it may be,
He asks to share.

And here is one who keeps aglow,
From spring through fall,
With flowers we both delight to know,
A garden small.

Oh, here's my world of far and near
Which faith attends,
Enriched with folk the heart holds dear—
My world of friends.

RESCUE

The raiders killed 523 Japanese —more than one for every prisoner released and knocked out 12 enemy tanks.

Commando Force.

The commando force, made up of the 121 Rangers and 286 Filipinos in the guerilla unit, reached the prison camp without detection.

Their swift, fierce attack caught the guards completely by surprise. The Japanese struck back violently and persistently as the rescue column headed back toward the Sixth Ranger camp and freedom for the valiant men who had been at the mercy of Japanese guards for nearly three years. The heavy, disproportionate Japanese losses were inflicted in battering down these tank-led attacks.

The commando raid, ordered on short notice when intelligence reports disclosed the whereabouts of the camp, was such a success that General MacArthur decorated every man in the force.

Receive Homage.

The lean and rugged captives received the homage of thousands of American soldiers now fighting to redeem the islands for which the veterans fought so valiantly and hopelessly. The youthful GI's formed an impromptu honor guard, flanking a military highway down which the rescue party passed after it returned to American lines.

It was the last of many marches for the rescued men—marches which began with the brutal "Death March of Bataan."

The freed men showed their happiness, despite their sores and ulcers, wasted bodies and ragged clothes.

Some looked helplessly up from litters. Others were proudly erect. There were old men with grey hair and dazed sunken eyes. Some were surprisingly young and almost at their normal weight. Others were limp from beri-beri.

Thrill to Remain.

Their sentiment was expressed by Capt. James B. Prippe, Los Angeles, former provost marshal on Corregidor. He said:

"The thrill of seeing those green clad Rangers storm into the prison camp last night will never quite leave me."

Lt. Cecil H. Hay, Houston, Texas, who was with the 31st infantry on Bataan, said: "I never forgot Texas and I didn't let any of the other boys forget it." Hay was too interested in food at the moment to explain how he kept Texas to the fore.

Lt. Col. Donald W. Sawtelle 1117 Eleventh street, Corpus Christi, Texas, was with an engineer unit on Cebu when Corregidor surrendered, but eluded the Japanese several months before he was captured.

Sawtelle, wearing a long raincoat and a battered garrison cap, proudly passed through the long liberation group.

"I had unkind treatment like everyone else and suffered some hardships," he said, "but now it's all over."

Sight of American Flag Brings Sobs

By FRED HAMPSON

LUZON, P. I., Jan. 1. (Delayed)—(AP)—Five hundred and eleven white men emerged from a Japanese prison camp today. By the calendar's reckoning they had been captives almost three years. By their own glazed reckoning a wretched eternity was ending.

One of them, Staff Sgt. Clinton Goodbla of Longview, Wash., member of the 60th Coast Artillery when he was captured on Corregidor said:

"When we walked through the lines this morning I saw an American flag."

Goodbla's haggard face gathered into a sob. He suddenly buried his head in his arms. His body shuddered with such violence of emotion I couldn't watch.

It was as though he were showing his soul in an uncontrolled paroxysm that had grief and release and relief in terrible thankfulness in it. It wasn't decent to watch him.

MacArthur Greets Rescued Friends

By RUSSELL BRINES

92ND U. S. EVACUATION HOSPITAL, Luzon, Philippines, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur soberly greeted 90 friends of Bataan and Corregidor during a visit today to American prisoners of war rescued from a Japanese prison camp.

The general strolled through the hospital wards among the officers who still remained here for treatment and rest. The able-bodied prisoners had left a short time previously for a transient camp.

Those able to do so came to attention as the five-starred general entered the room. He slowly circled the lines of cots, searching for familiar faces.

The hallway was lined with former captives, now looking neat in newly issued uniforms on which they proudly wore shiny new insignia of rank.

McArthur chattered several minutes with Col. James Duckworth, San Francisco, medical corps ranking officer in tne group.

MacArtrur and Duckworth last met during the general's inspection of a hospital on Bataan, in January, 1942.

As MacArthur left the room, Capt. Denie King, of Austin, Tex., saluted and asked permission to lead a patrol to Corregidor.

The general assured King he would get a chance to land again on the fortress islnad.

King was captured at Fort Drum a small fortified island near Corregidor in Manila Bay. He was an officer with the 59th Coast Artillery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many relatives and friends for their loving thoughtfulness and aid in our hour of tragedy, loss of our dear son, Pfc. Jack E. Newcomb. May God bless you and yours.
CAPT. AND MRS. DONALD NEWCOMB AND FAMILY.

WALLACE

CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE the measure designed to set up the RFC and other lending agencies as a separate administration.

The vote on the Bailey motion at first was a 42 to 42 tie, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) changed his vote to "no" in a futile attempt to force reconsideration in the hope the Wallace foes could summon additional Senators. A tie vote defeats a motion such as Bailey mada.

Vice Preisdent Truman, presiding, ruled Taft out of order when majority leader Barkeley of Kentucky complained that he had not yielded the floor.

Must Divorce Jobs

Barkley then moved to bring up the bill by Senator George (D-Ga)

Wallace supporters have conceded that unless this measure becomes law or President Roosevelt takes the lending agencies out of the commerce department, Wallace cannot be confirmed for the cabinet post.

After the close vote on the Bailey motion, the Barkley motion was carried 83 to 2.

Technically, Taft could move when he gains the floor to reconsider the Bailey proposal to put the Senate into executive session to consider the nomiantion.

George told the Senate that he and others had doubted the wisdom of permitting one man to hold both commerce post and lending agencies at the time Jesse Jones, the displaced secretary, was authorized by Congress to do so.

The parliamentary maneuvering followed a closed Democratic caucus which ended with several members predicting Wallace's ultimate confirmation—without lending authority.

Bailey, an opponent of the appointment, told reporters as the meeting broke up that he would move to put the Senate into executive session to consider the nomination.

This would be in direct variance with a program laid down by majority leader Barkley (Ky), who told the conference that he wants the Wallace nomination held up until Congress can pass a bill divorcing the commerce department from the RFC and other fiscal agencies.

The Bailey motion for an executive session, a question that is not debatable in the Senate, will provide a direct test on the popularity of the Wallace nomination.

Senator Byrd (D-Va., a Wallace critic, said he was confident the motion would carry. That would presage the debate of the appointment.

Meanwhile, majority leader Barkley, who called the conference, announced that if the Bailey motion prevailed he himself would immediately move to postpone further consideration of the Wallace nomination in order to give Congress and the President an opportunity to act on the divorcement bill.

Connally and O'Daniel Vote.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The vote by which the senate defeated 43 to 41 today the move by Senator Bailey (D-NC) to take up immediately the nomination of Henry A. Wallace as commerce secretary showed:

For the motion, 41, including Connally, Texas, and O'Daniel, Texas.

Against the motion, 43.

YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS GUESTS FOR CHURCH LUNCHEON

The Young Men's Bible class members were special guest for the Wednesday night fellowship supper held at the First Methodist Church, there being some 29 present from this class out of a total of over 150, the largest number yet to attend one of these weekly covered dish luncheons. The luncheon was the fourth in a series of twelve scheduled luncheons, and extra tables had to be provided Wednesday night for the large attendance.

The pastor, Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, resuming the study of "The Church and the Post War Period", told of many things the church should do in the post-war period. He said the church must be interested in the economic life of the world to see that all had a better standard of living. No Chirstian can be an isolationist as the Christian religion is for the whole world and no church will complete its mission if it does not make every effort to give Christianity to all the world, the speaker stated. He stated that the church must become more interested in the unperprivileged and help solve the economic ills of the world on a Christian basis.

The covered dish luncheon was followed by a brief sing-song and hymns led by the pastor, with Mrs. James H. Colvin at the piano. A number of guests were introduced. The pastor told of the Crusade for Christ and of the special Crusade offering to be taken in First Church Sunday at which time the quota for First Church has been set at $6,000.

VENEREAL DISEASE CONTROL CAMPAIGN IN OTHER CITIES

Gordon Climer, district venereal disease investigator for the State Department of Health and attached to the Corsicana-Navarro Health Department, is scheduled to give a preview of venereal disease control work before a meeting of the Waxahachie Lions Club on February 6 and before the Palestine Lion Club on Fabruary 8.

Demands of the two clubs for the previews are a direct result of the successful venereal disease educational campaign conducted here recently when C. P. Ray, director of venereal disease visual education for the State Department of Health, and Climer showed films on venereal disease and conducted discussions before service clubs and school audiences throughout the city.

Ray has pronounced the campaign he conducted here as the most successful in his seven years of experience with the State Department of Health. He considers the campaign here more successful than a campaign he recently conducted in Dallas which gained national recognition.

The previews at Palestine and Waxahachie, it is expected, will lay the groundwork for complete venereal disease educational campaigns in both cities. The news stories and features which appeared in the Daily Sun in connection with the campaign here are being used to promote publicity in the two neighboring cities, Climer said.

Personal.

J. T. Black, superintendent of the Blooming Grove schools, was a Corsicana visitor Wednesday afternoon.

By RUSSELL BRINES.

AN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Leyte, Philippines—(AP)—The thin trail snaked ominously across jagged mountains and sank from sight in heavy forest. Brig. Gen. Charles B. Lyman of Hawaii, assistant division commander of the 32nd Division, picked up his helmet and started out with his task force of two regiments.

About 13 airline miles—and perhaps 40 miles by trail—lay the west coast of Leyte island.

The native trail slanted upward into dense rain forest, a trickle of clared space guiding the Americans through little known country. Somewhere in this vast wilderness, scattered bands of Japanese still held out. The mission was to contact and annihilate as many of them as possible.

"I have never seen such rough country," Gen. Lyman said later.

The terrain was so rough that intervening ridges sometimes interferred with the radio contact between the task force and the division's headquarters.

These American boys, whom the Japanese before the war thought would never adapt themselves to the jungle, finally reached their objective after a six days' march.

Bases were established, then patrols pushed out to find the Japanese, who had not bothered them during the march.

"We had a series of minor engagements," said Gen. Lyman. "Nothing much, really. There was no organized resistance. Most of the Japanese were among the reinforcements sent toward Ormoc who had been sunk at sea and had made their way ashore. About a third of them had arms."

American losses were light. Several hundred Japanese were killed.

Other boys in other units have made these backbreaking trips across hills, pursuing a furtive enemy. They are the former clerks and soda jerkers and high school football players who have made good in perhaps the world's toughest battle areas.

They are led by Philippine army scouts and guerillas, but the Americans do most of the fighting. They got about 12,000 Japanese this way in one period of two weeks.

So goes on, around the fringes of an abandoned main battlefield this job of extermination.

Communiques are filed with major developments these days. And the mission headed by Gen. Lyman, like so many others, came under this heading—minor mopping up.

DESCRIPTIVE

Finally, stunningly swift rescue and an all night forced march of 25 miles, the last of several marches for them. The first meeting of these soldiers and the trim officers of the present campaign was a tense, brave effort to span the dead years.

All Kinds of Men.

There were old men with grey hair, dazed, sunken eyes. Several were surprisingly young looking men, still keen and freshly shaven. There were also those who limped from beri-beri, legs scored by tropical ulcers and other diseases, and, of course, there were those who looked up helplessly from litters. They tried proudly to be soldiers, carrying themselves as erect as possible. Many saluted promptly and stayed at attention when talking to officers. One man who did this crept into a truck and sank back exhausted a minute later.

These men were so happy you could see new life flowing into them, yet most of them found it difficult and confusing to return to this world. Perpetually wearing a broad grin, some would start a conversation with "Hello, Yank, glad to see you." And then there was nothing more they could say.

Talked Pleasantly.

They talked pleasantly when they could but many spoke hesitatingly.

Even the most robust young men had been enfeebled somewhat from malnutrition because of their diet of three handfuls of rice daily with a few sweet potatoes for those who worked. Some lost as much as 100 pounds.

They remembered buddies whose bodies had been heaped into massed graves. Finally, last year they were allowed to make a tidy cemetery.

All along the line as I rode, truck after truck passed, the occupants showing some uncertainty, some hesitancy. They glanced eagerly at new weapons and helmets of soldiers who lined the road. They peered far ahead at the plain stretching interminably—with no barbed wire, no guard to bar their free passage.

Talk of Home.

Little by little they talk of food. Then they talk of wives, children sweethearts, and parents from whom the majority have heard nothing for more than three years.

They talk in low tones of Japanese brutality and the death march of Bataan, of the final terrifying week of bombing and bombardment which hit Corregidor, of men dying like flies, of disease, of ten hours daily in prison camp under the hot sun in fields, or waist high in water of rice paddies under hard eyes, of frequent beatings and shootings.

These experiences lay heavily on them. Details were painful to recall. Yet many of them foreswore the probability of returning home immediately to stay and "drop just a few Japs first."

trusts were trying to run the state and that the regents should run the University as the majority of Texans wished.

Claude Carter of Harlingen, said that "in my opinion Woodward, Warren and Terrell have demonstrated their lack of qualifications to serve as regents.

University to Benefit

Dr. Terrell, said that in any activities that he was engaged, he wished to feel that the University of Texas would benefit both scholastically and otherwise.

"The regents who have come from the O'Daniel and Stevenson regimes have been negative as far as their interest in the growth of the University is concerned," Angus G. Wynn of Dallas said. "They have been too busy fighting Rainey,' he added.

Warren said he had informed the committee that in the event he were unable to attend three fourths of the meetings of the regents he would be willing to resign.

"The welfare of the University should be the primary consideration in making any decisions," Tucker said, adding "I have not been in a position to gather any facts and have kept out of the controversy."

"I am free from bias in the controversy and my sole interest is in the future growth of the University," Kirkpatrick asserted.

Dr. Scherer said that not having been confirmed he considered it untimely to discuss any of the matters pertaining to the University.

Wodward said that he had reviewed the opinions and suggestions made before the board of regents here last week.

Mrs. Jane McCallum and Ben Ramey, the latter a student assembly representative also appeared before the committee.

IN INDIA—Sgt. Claude A. Baker 21, U. S. CITY REGULATIONS TOO COMPLICATED; NEGRO CLOSES SHOP

A negro restaurant operator who thought nothing of violating the city sanitary ordinance, the city fire code and the city building code, had to close shop Wednesday after being in business only four days.

The negro had moved a trailer house on to the vacant lot in the 100 block of North Commerce street to begin operating one of the most primitive types of eating places ever seen in the city. Hamburgers were cooked on a wood stove fired with kindling from old pine boxes. Fat for frying was kept in an open sugar bowl liberally coated with soil and other foreign matter. Cakes and pies were kept in a show case open on the ends to flies and other insects.

H. P. Bivin, fire chief, held the negro in violation of the city fire ordinance which permits brick buildings only at the location of the restaurant. The city engineer held the negro in violation of the city building code which requires that a permit be obtained before any building is erected or moved to a location in the city. And the city sanitarian ruled that the negro was violating the city sanitary code. With three city departments against him, the negro reluctantly closed shop and moved out.

under actual attack, with the exception of a few very short stretches, on more than 1,500 miles of front. Before the Russian offensive began, before the losses which Hitler has taken recently on both eastern and western fronts, he was credited with 2,000 men per mile—and he couldn't hold then. The conclusion is too obvious to mention.

Red Cross Needs Men and Women In Overseas Service

Basil O'Connor, national chairman of the American Red Cross, states that from now on the Red Cross load of service to the armed forces will be heavier than ever. Because of greater military demands, the organization is expanding its overseas personel. Several types of positions are now open.

Men between the ages of thirty and fifty are needed as field directors and assistants, to counsel and advise servicemen in personal and family problems, and to communicate with home Red Cross chapters. Field directors are cutting out for themselves, Mr. O'Connor advises, a quiet trail of modest glory. Their good cheer, their unfailing willingness to help a serviceman, their tireless treks through mud and snow make them indispensable and ever welcome.

Men are also being recruited as club directors to handle Red Cross facilities in the rest areas back from the fighting fronts. Here a man can forget for a few days the roar of battle.

Women Are Needed

Women are needed in Red Cross clubs, as clubmobile and general recreation workers. In the field of hospital service, the need is equally urgent. Positions are now open to women as recreation workers, to plan and conduct activities as part of the hospital social service programs. Women are also urged to enlist as staff aides to give such service as writing letters and shopping for patients. These are the little things which help relieve the wounded fighter's hours of worry, homesickness and frustration.

There is a call, too, for women with medical and psychiatric case work tarining and experience. They will handle technical case work in co-operation with Army medical officers.

Some Qualifications

The qualifications for these overseas workers include college training, administrative experience, and top-notch physical health. The local Red Cross chapter can give fuller details of the requirements and positions that are now open.

Those who volunteer for the above named positions will be vital, morale-building "soldiers without guns." As military operations increase in tempo, the Red Cross must have this personnel—these all-essential men and women who will keep the Red Cross at the side of fighting men wherever they may be.

Men and women who are considering any of the above mentioned openings, are requested to call at Red Cross headquarters, 110 East Collin Street, where Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, executive secretary, will be prepared to advise on qualifications, etc.

Information From Navarro County Rationing Board

OPA will conduct a mechanical pencil and fountain pen survey Feb. 1 to 15. The survey will include all establishments that sell fountain pens and mechanical pencils- department stores, jewelry stores, stationers, cigar stores, drug stores, news stands, 5 cents to $1 stores, and others, W. A. Wright, chairman of the Navarro county rationing board, announced Tuesday.

Wright called attention to the following OPA requirement which retailers must comply with:

Every fountain pen and pencil offered for sale, sold or delivered, must have attached to it by means of a tag or band or imprinted, engraved or permanently stamped on it this information: (a) The manufacturer's name or brand name; (b) the model designation; (c) the retail ceiling price.

Shipping point ceiling prices for dry onions of the 1945 crop, will be the same as for dry onions of the 1944 crop, W. A. Wright, chairman of the Navarro county rationing board, announced Wednesday.

The prices, based on a national average return to growers of $2.99 a hundred pounds, include a substantial margin over average production costs as incentive for continued maximum production of onions, Wright said. The prices are being continued by OPA on recommendation of the War Food Administration and with the approval of the economic stabilization director.

These prices become effective Feb. 5, 1945. OPA also announced a re-definition of Florida early potato producing areas and provision for uniform ceiling prices for all Florida counties east and south of the Suwanne river for early crop potatoes harvested and marketed during the month of May.

Clothing Situation Expected Remain Bad Some Time

Even after the war in Europe ends, the clothing and textiles situation in this country is not expected to improve materially, Miss Alice Sundquist, Federal Extension clothing specialist from Washington, D. C., told County Home Demonstration Agents of Extension District 4 at a recent meeting in Dallas according to Vera Sneed, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Weather conditions in the Pacific theater cause rapid deterioration in clothing and tentage fabrics, and of late the demand has been so great that all coarse cotton yarns now are going to military purposes and none to civilians. As a result, homemakers will have to prolong the lives of slip-covers, draperies, bedspreads and sheeting. Similarly, the shortage of denim work clothes will continue to pinch and conservation of these was never more important.

Consumer Squeezed

In fact, the consumer is getting squeezed from all directions, Miss Sundquist explained, since prices of clothing increased 41 percent between August, 1939, and August, 1944. The increase has been about 10 percent in the last 18 months. Nor do these figures take into account the decreases in quality of durability of garments.

Miss Sneed's advice to homemakers is to make an inventory of unusued or pre-war material which might be stored in attics, trunks and cedar chests. Making clothes over and making the best use of materials salvaged from flour and feed sacks will continue to be "musts" for many women. These principles have been emphasized in Extension's war-time clothing program and will continue to be emphasized as long as the need justifies.

Miss Sneed quotes Miss Sundquist as suggesting that consumers who feel the government should work toward textile standards for color fastness, lanudering, shrinkage protection, and better measurements should convey their wishes to J. A. King, head of the War Production Board, in Washington.

Supreme Court Rules Transfer Of Funds Illegal

AUSTIN, Jan. 31—(AP)—The Supreme Court, ith Associate Justice John H. Sharp dissenting, today held unconstitutional the act of the 48th legislature under which approximately $8,000,000 in special fund surpluses would have been transferred to teh state's general revenue fund.

The majority opinion by Chief Justice James P. Alexander, held that the caption of the act "contains nothing to indicate that the body of the act purported to transfer the 17 funds refered to in section two; xxx therefore section two is unconstitutional."

The dissenting contended that the majority placed too strict a construction upon the constitutional provision that "no bill shall contain more than one subject which shall be expressed in its title."

The decision was handed down in two specific test cases: Gulf Insurance Company vs. Jesse James State treasurer and J. L. Joseph vs. James. The original suits against James were to enjoin transfer of portions of the fire insurance division and motor vehicle funds, and the board of cosmetology fund, to the general fund.

The trial court held the fund transfer law was unconstitutional. The court of Civil Appeals took the opposite position. The Supreme Court upheld the trial court decision.

Since passage of the questioned law and the filing of the suits, the state's general fund deficit has been wiped out. Current official estimates of prospective revenue for the geenral fund did not take into account the surpluses directly or indirectly involved in the test cases. The 41th legislature, in making appropriations for the next biennium, is opening under a new constitutional mandate intended to maintain the state on a cash basis.

WACs Working In Vitally Important Communications

Members of the Women's Army Corps—235 strong—are keeping the messages of war moving at the War Department Signal Center in Washington, D. C., hub of the Army's vast wire, radio and cable communications system.

The WACS share responsibility for the operation of circuits to all parts of the globe. This is the world's most important military communications center, handling more than 10,000,000 words daily. Through the Wacs' hands pass messages destined to change the course of battle, to bring reinforcements to front-line units, to send supplies where needed. Every tank, every plane, whether operating in the jungles of Bumra, on the European front, or in the icy stretches of Alaska, is only a few minutes from the High Command.

The Wacs are a vital part of the communications force which makes this possible. They carry a great weight of responsibility; for messages garbled or incorrectly transmitted might cost thousands of lives or affect the progress of a campaign.

The Army training which these Wacs receive will pay off well in postwar jobs. For example, these women are experts in teletype operations. They use high-speed perforators, which translate messages into perforated tapes in which each character is represented by a series of five or fewer holes across the tape. Wacs have become proficient in the operation of the highly elaborate and efficient system for relaying messages throughout the teletypewriter - operated wire, cable and radio networks.

Farm Organizations Urge Rejection Of REA Nomination

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Three national farm organizations today urged the rejection of President Roosevelt's nomination of Aubrey Williams as Rural Electrification Administrator.

They are the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation.

In a joint letter addressed to Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) of the Senate agriculture committee, the organizations said Williams is "not qualified by experience or training."

The committee, scheduled to consider the nomination this morning, postponed its meeting until tomorrow to permit democratic members to attend a party caucus.

Hitler Exhorts German Nation Accept Miseries

LONDON, Jan. 31. (AP)—The German nation, beset by powerful invading armies, embarked today on the 13th year of the Nazi regime, exhorted by Adolf Hitler to accept "boundless misery" as the price of continued resistance.

Germany, Hitler proclaimed to the world last night, will fight on to the death—"fight on no matter where and no matter under what cimcumsthances until final victory crowns our efforts."

His speech marking the 12th anniversary of his ascendancy to the chancellorship on Jan. 30, 1933, was broadcast from his headquarters amidst news of continuing Russian advances from the east—victorious strides that now have carried to within 73 miles of Berlin.

(German reports placed the Russians within 55 miles of greater Berlin.)

Hitler twice asserted that God had given him a mission. "The Almighty" saved him from assassination, he declared, and he saw in this "confirmation of my assigned task."

The man who sent his armed legions into virtually every country of Europe gave the German people a nebulous promise of victory despite his growing reverses.

When "this most gigantic of all world dramas will have ebbed and peace bells will ring," Hitler declared, still at the head of Europe will be "that nation (Germany) which has led Europe for one and one half thousands of years as the leading power against the east."

As Hitler spoke there were growing indications that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin already may have met in a momentous session.

Seemingly taking into consideration a possible "surrender now" demand by the Big Three, Hitler declared:

"Every promise these statesmen are making to their people is of no importance because they cannot fulfill their assurances."

KERENS, Jan. 30. (Spl.)—The Cub Scouts of Kerens, Pack No. 3252, were entertained with a party at the Armory Building last Thursday night at 7 o'clock. There were about ninety children present.

Howell, pastor of First Methodist church, which sponsors the Pack, called the meeting to order, introducing the guests and asking all Cubs to stand, there being about forty present. He then spoke highly of the work of the three retiring Den Mothers, Mme. T. L. Whorton, E. K Howell, anad Chas. Reese. He also praised the very efficient work of the Den Chiefs, Dwaine Bruner, Elmin Howell, Jr., and Wayland Warren. NAVARRO COUNTY COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION THURSDAY

Approval of a new deputy sheriff, re-appointment of three memion of pending legislation in Austin and installing an elevator in the Navarro county courthouse were features of the regular commissioners court session Thursday morning.

The annual narrative reports of Vera Sreed and Eva Williams, county home demonstration agent and assistant, respectively, were ordered filed.

Members of the Navarro county hospital board re-appointed for two year terms are Dr. Gurley H. Sanders, Kerens; W. A. Crawford, Blooming Grove, and Z. T. Banks, Corsicana.

J. C. Roe, county attorney, and the commissioners discussed pending legislation before the Legislature, particularly a proposed constitutional amendment proposed for the combining of the district and county clerks offices in counties up to and including 30,000 population. A number of larger counties want the population bracket raised and there was discussion favoring its raising to above the population of Navarro county.

Another Bill Discussed

Another bill entitled H. B. 20 amending the budget law was discussed. It provides that cities, counties, villages, etc., be under the same budget requirements. It was stated this proposal would work hardships as different conditions pervail.

The proposed legislation, however, that was considered the most was H. B. 49 whereby the state, counties and cities will divide the auto registration fees. If that bill passes, Navarro county would lose about 10 percent of the $80,000-odd receipts from the automobile registrations to the incorporated towns of the county, practically stopping road maintenance work.

W E Lee New Deputy

The application of Sheriff Cap Curington for the appointment of W. E. Lee as a riding deputy sheriff at a salary of $214.50 per month was approved. Lee will take the place vacated January 1, this year, with the resignation of Sam T. Curry. Lee has been engaged in war work in Louisiana and Texas following his resignation several years ago as constable of Precinct 1. He was superintendent of the Navarro county farm at Petty's Chapel a number of years ago.

Claims were allowed except as noted on the claim docket.

F. H Cunningham, representing the Otis Elevator Company, headquarters in Dallas, and George Daniels, discussed a proposed installation of an elevator in the courthouse. Cunningham said an elevator with 2,500 pounds carrying capacity would cost about $7,000, and plus an estimated $2,000 for the instalaltion and changes necesary for the new elevator. He said an operator would also be required in the public building. The matter was passed for future discussion on the sugestion of Commissioner Jack Megarity.

counts indicated the crucial battle of the Oder was near.

The offensive in the West also mounted in fury. American artillery poured shells into the Siegfried line as the U. S. First and Third armies pushed East at the rate of three to four miles a day into weakened defenses. Virtually the last German foothold has been hacked from Belgian soil.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army advanced four miles on a broad front and sent patrols into outer Siegfried defenses, strangely silent in the sector. The first division pushed to within sight of the line, without challenge from enemy artillery, suggesting that the Germans had pulled back major forces from the area. The Allies may know soon to what extent the Nazis have weakened their Western defenses by the shift of troops Eastward.

RUSSIAN

The Russians quoted German prisoners as saying large elements of the German air force had been stripped from the Cologne and Aachen sector of the western front as the Nazi high command threw in everything to stop the Russians.

Toughness of the Oder defenses before Berlin was suggested by the fact that several days have now elapsed since the Russians have reported any appreciable progress from their Oder bridgeheads on both sides of Breslau in Silesia.

The Germans continue to declare that Soviet spearheads there had been stopped.

From Soldin to Sorau.

Zhukov's front was reported by Berlin to reach from Soldin in the north to Sorau in the south.

Soldin is 45 miles inside Germany, 56 miles northeast of Berlin and 38 miles from the Baltic port of Stettin, at the mouth of the Oder. The town is on the highway connecting Stettin and Kurstin.

Moscow dispatches said Soviet forces to the northeast had reached points only 55 miles from the Baltic in a drive to slash final land communications of Danzig and Eastern Pomerania with the rest of Germany.

In the northeastern battle areas terrible scenes were reported being nacted at Konigsberg, encircled capital of East Prussia. Moscow dispatches said panic seized the city of 370,000, over-crowded with 150,000 refugees.

House-to-House Fight.

The Russians apparently were faced with the task of bayoneting and mortaring their way from house to house.

Below Konigsberg the Germans were carying out a wholesale evacuation of Elbing, on the Gulf of Danzig, where Russian forces had cut off the remainder of East Prussia.

Soviet correspondents said virtually all the German population of Silesia was on the move toward inner Germany.

"The roads behind the front are covered with them," said one correspondent. "Panic is reigning in hundreds of cities and towns and Exultation swept the Soviet thousands of villages." Union.

Russian Successes.

Along the entire eastern front from Konigsberg. in East Prussia, to Budapest, the Hungarian capital, the Russians reported successes.

Soviet shells continued to fall in the streets of Konigsberg as the Russians tightened the squeeze on German forces now holding about one-fifth of East Prussia.

At Budapest, the besieged German garrison is "putting up a desperate resistance," said the Russian communique, but "the hopelessness of their situation" prompted many of the defenders to lay down their arms. The Russians claimed 3,200 prisoners were taken Tuesday.

There was no soviet mention of besieged Breslau and the Silesian sector, where Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukranian army has been operating

OUR WORLD'S NEW MOOD OF MINISTRY LEARNED OF JESUS*

Present Projects of Benevolence Spring From Seeds of Truth Planted in Galilee—The One Sure Proof of Religion—Christ's Crowded Days of Helpfulness

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

In a day of foggy thinking, it is good to have a clear vision of timely truths that are beyond dispute. Our war-born altruism is such. Anybody may perceive, and everybody will admit, that during this war there has developed a world-wide concern for human welfare. Gigantic projects of benevolence, beyond all pre-war thinking, are already in operation. Outstanding is the UNRRA, of the United Nations. In the same category are the vast relief enterprises of the Red Cross, the Church organizations, of the American Friends Service Committee, of the U. S. O., of the service clubs, and of scores of other bodies established to carry all forms of succor to the distressed peoples of Europe, Asia and Africa.

This is a big step forward in civilization, an achievement that has no parallel in the long history of mankind. It is a constructive consequence of our United Nations war aims. And it is a practical expression of the spirit and example of Jesus

Lifting Life's Level

One of the great single sentence biographies is the record of Jesus, "He went about doing good." And that same description could be applied to myriads of His friends today, whose faith expresses itself in simple deeds of friendliness—visiting the sick, sympathizing with the sorrowing, caring for a neighbor's baby, sharing one's home with the lonely, giving food to the hungry, contributing to charitable causes, speaking up consistently in behalf of the underprivileged, cheering and steering youth as it trends a difficult path, scattering smiles and courage in the home and in the community, teaching a Sunday School class, writing letters to friends afar, tactfully speaking the word of faith to souls that need guidance—the list of everyday ministries that the right now being practiced by friends and followers of Jesus is literally endless

Life's level has been lifted by this spirit of helpfulness. We are all better neighbors—now on a world scale—because an ever-increasing number of persons are animated by the motive. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the last of these my brethren, ye have done in unto Me." The glory of the Christian religion is that lowliest service may express highest ideals. As Lowell wrote:

"Who gives himself with his alms feeds three,— Himself, his hungering neighbor
and Me."

The Test of Religion

Being religious is not going about with solemn mien, mouthing pious phrases. The Jesus way is to move along the common walk of everydayness, in touch with commonplace folk, and to help every need encountered. "Doers of the word' have Scripture's certification. "Saved to serve" is a true slogan. Few of us can pass a theological examination: all of us, each in his own place, can bear the fruits of helpful conduct which Jesus gave as proof of faith in Him. Every sphere of life, and especially the home circle, offers opportunity to do things the Jesus way. And especially Christ-like is making little children happy.

This implies a loving disposition. I once heard Moody say that "if religion has done nothing for your temper, it has done nothing for your soul." When one becomes a follower of Christ, the whole trend of his life is changed toward kindness, friendliness and helpfulness. The new life in the heart expresses itself in new speech on the lips and new deeds by the hands.

We are in an era of consideration for the other person, even the remotest. For example, this season's Christmas mail, of letters and packages for the service men, has broken all records. In ways small and great, our awakened world is demonstrating good will. Our faith is being proved by our works.

He Went About Doing Good

One fair criticism of the new series of Lessons issued by the International Committee is that it assigns too large portions of Scripture. The present Lesson is based on two chapters of Matthew's Gospel, covering a wide range of the activities of Jesus. Any one of the incidents related would make an adequate Lesson.

They include the healing of a leper; the curing of the centurion's boy; the restoration to health of Peter's mother-in-law; the stilling of a storm at sea; the casting out of demons from the Gadarene demoniacs, and the destruction of the herd of swine; the raising of the palsied man; the debate over sin with the Pharisees; the calling of Matthew, and the feast Matthew gave, and the criticism by the Pharisees of Jesus for eating with publicans and sinners; the teaching about fasting, and about new wine in old wine-skins; the raising of the ruler's daughter from the dead; the cure of the women who touched the hem of His garment; the giving of sight to two blind men, and of speech to the dumb demoniac.

These crowded days give a fair picture of the ever-helpful Jesus. Matthew summarizes it in the great passage: 'And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching them in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the multitudes, He was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted and were scatered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd."

Three Thousand Additional Red Cross Aids Needed

The American Red Cross has just issued an apepal for nearly 3,000 additional workers to serve our fighting forces overseas.

In the midst of wartime appeals for men and women for industry and other vital employment, this item may be overlooked of treated lightly. But to the millions of fighting Americans in the theaters of war and on the high seas, no other single personnel need is as important as getting more Red Cross men and women at their side to serve them, stated Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, local executive secretary.

In the words of Admiral E. J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. Fleet, "The humanitarian activities of the American Red Cross have a direct bearing on the outcome of the war." And Lieut. General Omar N. Bradley, commanding the Twelfth Army Group in the battle for Germany, speaks for the front line doughfoot when he says, "To our soldiers overseas the Red Cross is a cheerful reminder of home anad friends who have remembered them."

On Six Continents

On six continents, in 52 nations and island outposts, the American Red Cross workers are visible symbols of home, rendering the hundreds of services which give fighting men heart and spirit for the march to victory. Assistant field directors, clubmobile girls, hospital recreation and social workers, club directors—all are essential parts of the American fighting man's life. The Red Cross men and women overseas are now valiant representatives of the love and kindness of the American people, officials of the great humanitarian organization believe.

More are needed at once to continue the great work of keeping home near the front lines.

Men and women of Navarro county of maturity and understanding who want an opportunity to render a battlefront service dear to the heart of America are urged to apply at executive headquarters of Navarro chapter, American Red ross, 110 East Collin Street, at once and discuss qualifications, etc., with Mrs. Mitchell.

Seek WAC Medical Technicians From Corsicana Sector

Lieut. Helen Wade and Sgt. Virginia Matthew of the Women's Army Corps have arrived in Corsicana, and have opened recruiting headquarters in the basement at the postoffice. Despite the response of patriotic American women, the quota of medical technicians to serve in army general hospitals is far from filled, stated Lieut. Wade and Sgt. Matthew, and they are here to conduct an intensive recruitment campaign through Wednesday.

During 1945 the WAC recruiting program will emphasize the enlistment of qualified women urgently needed for duty in army hospitals and of those possessing specialized skills in several vital categories necessary to maintain the WAC at the level required for over-all army efficiency.

Because of increasingly high casualty lists and the return of thousands of sick and wounded soldiers to the United States every month, together with a critical shortage of army nurses, there is an urgent continuing need for several thousand medical and surgical technicians in army hospitals. This need is acute and must be filled.

Qualifications.

Qualifications for the WAC medical technician are: At least two years of high school, between the ages of 20 and 50 years, with no dependents under the age of 14 years ;a citizen of the United States, and good health.
